The Star and Sentinel.

THE ANGEL OF SLEEP.

He droops his plumy, snow soft wings,
He waves his balmy hand,
And wide the gate of silence swings
That guards the shadowy land.
Forgot is time, the sentinel
That stands outside the door;
The gloomy train of cares as well
That clogged our steps before;
Oh river of oblivion!
Thy draughts are sweet and deep,
For Memory slumbers on her throne,
Rocked by the angel Sleep.

There is a face whose loveliness
Is marred by hues of care;
But Sleep has swept it with his kiss
And made it smooth and fair.
There is a worn and weary brain
That rests until the morn!
There is a heart that beats with pain,
That feels no more forlorn.
Oh, Death's fair brother, how divine
Must be that slumber deep,
More sweet, more calm, more free than thine,
When his beloved sleep.

"MISTAKEN IN THE PERSON."

"My dear, you'll be very particular about the dinner," said Isaiah Southmayed, toasting his coat tails before the ruddy breakfast fire. "And I beg and entreat of you, don't let Peggy spoil the wild ducks."

Mrs. Southmayed rubbed her forehead in a sort of bewildered perplexity. She was a plump, over-dressed little matron with round, blue eyes and pug nose, not unlike a Dutch doll. Isaiah Southmayed had married her for the five thousand dollars that seemed boundless wealth to him when he was a struggling clerk at three hundred per annum—therefore it was rather unreasonable that Isaiah Southmayed should be annoyed at the absence of brains under her pink cap ribbons. He had not bargained for brains—what right had he to expect them? But men have been unreasonable since the world began, and Isaiah was no exception to the ordinary rule.

"Yes, dear," said Mrs. Southmayed, nervously clattering among her china cups and saucers. "The soup a la Julienne, with plenty of pepper—and the fish stewed in wine—and—and the best silver, and the table-cloth with the crimson border, and the blue silk coverlet on the bed—and——"

"There, there, that will do," said Mr. Southmayed, petulantly. "You never will have a spark of system, if you live to be a hundred years old. It's strange I can't accustom you to a more methodical way of thinking."

"I am sorry, dear," said the lady, meekly, "but you know, just as you were telling me, yesterday, Charley's wife came in to ask for plain sewing, and really my poor head got so confused, that——"

"Charley's wife!" roared Isaiah, whirling round so rapidly that his coat tails narrowly escaped a conflagration. "There you go again, Mrs. Southmayed. Didn't I expressly charge you not to mention Charley or his wife? 'Sdeath, madam! you'll have 'em out before your Cousin Remington, as sure as you're alive."

"I didn't think, Isaiah—I'm very sorry."

"You'll have cause to be sorry, ma'am!" enunciated Isaiah, growing very red in the face. "I don't want Raymond Remington to know anything about Charley. Let him suppose that Charley is safe in California where he ought to be. Confound the lazy, idle fellow. I don't believe he's a bit sicker than I am. I think that when a man gets to that stage of life when he's bothering all his relations for money, he ought to be shut up in some public institution—I do, upon my word."

"He's your brother, dear," mildly suggested the Dutch doll of a wife, who evidently had a little heart somewhere in her internal mechanism, "and poor Fanny wears such shabby bonnets."

"My brother! Is that any reason he should pester my life out of me, with his everlasting begging notes and letters, and his old white hat bobbing about among the clerks in my office? I'll put a stop to it, once for all—I will, Mrs. Southmayed."

"But Fanny tells me she only wants a little work to keep them from starvation.—There are six little ones, Isaiah, and——"

"Fanny tells you the moon is made of green cheese, and you believe it!" irately interrupted her husband. "Charley's coming to my office this afternoon, and it will be for the last time. The idea of his asking me to employ that tall starving girl of his as governess to my children."

Mrs. Southmayed was silent. In her own secret heart she would much have preferred gentle Clara Southmayed to the French mademoiselle, who domineered over the whole family and wore green spectacles and false curls; but she had long since learned that her will must bend before that of her imperative lord and master.

"What time will you have dinner?" she asked quietly.

"Well—six will probably be sufficiently early. The Iberia comes in at four—and of course Mr. Remington will send for me immediately. Now, don't forget the port-wine sauce for the ducks—nor the fresh currant jelly—and see to selecting the raisins and almonds yourself, my dear. That's all I remember just now—but if any improvement should suggest itself to me, I can easily send up a note from the office."

And Isaiah Southmayed lofully put on his hat and went out, a portly and well-to-do specimen of the New York merchant.—Nor need he have taken to himself so much inward credit for his present mood of serene good humor with the world at large. Now men are goodhumored who come from a bright fire, after a breakfast of real old Java coffee, with broiled chickens and hot rolls.

Breakfast at Charles Southmayed's was quite a different affair.

"Mamma, can I have a little more molasses with my bread?"

"Hush, Tommy," said Clara, with judicious warning, "mamma has no more molasses for you."

"If Tommy don't like his bread without molasses," chimed in a hungry-eyed little elf opposite, "I would eat it."

"Why don't you have milk and water this morning?" asked Charley junior, eyeing his cup of cold water distastefully.

"Because," promptly responded Tommy, "the milk man said he wouldn't leave any more milk till the old bill was settled. Oh, mamma, wouldn't it be nice to have lots of money?"

"Hush, children," said Mrs. Southmayed, deftly transferring her own portion of bread to the plate of the hungry-eyed elf before mentioned. "Charley, you won't think of going out this cold morning with that cough?"

"I think the fresh air will do me good, my love," answered the pallid, gray-haired man, whose features were sad and sorrowful in their expression of suffering, and whose whole appearance betokened the presence of some mental disease. "I probably contracted this cough in the basement, where I must go, now I must a toss of her head. "Much good it will do, to appeal to Isaiah. A hard-hearted, cold-blooded, money-worshiping—"

"My dear—my dear," interrupted the poor invalid, "he is my brother."

"I can't help it," sobbed Mrs. Southmayed, "he has no more heart than a block of stone. Clara, bring me the rolls of work, dear."

"Are they soldiers' clothes, mamma?" questioned curious little Tommy. "Are you going to sew on that pretty yellow braid?"

But Mrs. Southmayed did not answer.—She knew that she must sew diligently all the hours of the short winter day, to earn the forty cents which were to feed the hungry child-mouths around her.

"Carriage, sir? carriage?" "Have a nice hack, sir—take you all the way up Broadway for two dollars?" "Carriage sir? the best house?" "Now, then, sir,—here's your man."

The Iberia had finally moored her ponderous length in the blue sparkles of the Bay, and the little steamboat had just brought the eager passengers ashore.—Amid the tumult of the piers, the rattle of stages, and the distant roar of Broadway, old Raymond Remington stalked through the crowd, with his hat slouched over his eyes, and his hands clasped behind his back, as placidly as if he were still among the bending palms and feathery acacias of the far East.

"No use pestering' that old dove, Jim!" ejaculated a hackman to his persistent partner, who was following the saffron-faced stranger, with vehement praises of some equipage. "I ain't sure that sort o' fellow puts money in our pockets."

Raymond Remington smiled grimly to himself, as he mentally acknowledged the truth of the man's inference. Yet, the rich old East Indian could probably have bought up half the passengers of the Iberia.

He sat down by the hastily kindled, smoky fire of the hotel-parlor, unconsciously shivering in the wintry draughts.

"And this is what I've looked forward to, for thirty years—thirty years," mused Raymond Remington, with a cold thrill of disappointment at his heart. "There's no use disguising the fact that this isn't just what I used to dream about when I first went out to India. They say money can do anything—can it buy me a welcome?"

He sat motionless a moment, then started up with a sudden impulse.

"I'll go out and see Isaiah Southmayed—Isaiah and I were boys together, and Charley. Poor Charley! Isaiah writes me he is in California, doing very well. I wish he could have been here to shake his old friend's hand—I used to be fond of Charley. Isaiah's well enough, but somehow I can't divest myself of the idea that it's my money he's counting. Perhaps I've grown distrustful and doubting—it's very possible—but Charley used to be my favorite cousin."

Raymond Remington walking through the surging current of Broadway, in his old accustomed way, with his eyes bent on the pavement, and his hands clasped in one another behind him, felt more and more lonely and disheartened as the dusk closed drearily over the great Babylon of sight and sound, and the gas-lamps began to glimmer like yellow stars through the twilight. The city had changed almost magically—the splendid streets of his boyhood were dingy and deserted now, and new thoroughfares had risen in glistening rows of marble and brownstone.

"It didn't seem like coming home," pondered the yellow-faced East Indian, more disappointed than he was willing to confess to himself.

There was but one shaded light burning in the little back office, dedicated to Isaiah Southmayed's special use and benefit, and the clerks in the countinghouse beyond glanced furtively over their shoulders and whispered to one another various private opinions respecting the "awful bad temper" of their chief, on this particular evening.

Isaiah Southmayed was cross—and perhaps not without reason. Six o'clock was approaching, and no note had been received from the rich East Indian, summoning his obsequious relative to attend his leisure—moreover, he had too good reason to believe that the ducks were spoiling, and the fish stewed in wine would be a total failure.

"It's very singular—it's positively unaccountable," said Isaiah Southmayed to himself for at least the ninth time within the half-hour. "Now then, sir, what's wanting?"

For a pale-faced clerk with a quill behind his ear had insinuated his head meekly through the half-open door.—

"If you please, sir, a gentle—I—I mean a man, wants to speak with you."

"A man. Haven't I said I wouldn't see any one to-night, you idiot?"

"Please sir, he says he's a—a relation of yours, sir."

Isaiah caught up his big office ruler vindictively, but restrained his inclination to throw it at the offender's head, luckily remembering in time, that Michael Arnott was a new clerk, and consequently no an experienced one.

"It's that begging rascal, Charley," roared Isaiah, losing all self-restraint in his towering passion. "I'll settle his business for him. Send him in, Arnott."

The spare, bowed figure, wearing, by some curious coincidence, just such a white hat as Isaiah

WE are glad to learn that Gov. GEARY has so far recovered from his recent illness as to be able to resume the duties of his office.

IT seems to be conceded, owing to the great diversity of opinion, that there will be nothing done at this session of Congress on the subject of Finance and the Tariff.

ONE of the very first of General Grant's official acts as President, there is a good reason to believe, will be to order General Sheridan to the command of the Department at New Orleans.

ON Monday last Mr. Robinson, Democrat, of New York, introduced a resolution to increase the President's salary to $100,000 per annum after the 4th of March. It was referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

JOHN M. LANGSTON, of Ohio, the distinguished colored lawyer, will be an applicant for the Ministership to Hayti, under Grant, with every prospect of success. This is the same position tendered him by President Johnson, but declined for the reason that he would not dim his political prospects by accepting an office under the present administration.

DELAWARE is the only State in the Union that retains the whipping post as an instrument of torture to punish criminals. The Wilmington Commercial rightly denounces it as "brutal, barbarous and degrading," and advocates its immediate abolishment. Delaware clings tenaciously to its three idols—the Nigger, Democracy, and the Whipping Post.

NOW that the U. S. Senate has closed down on Andy Johnson's distribution of official favors, he has turned his attention to the small offices not dependent on Senatorial confirmation.—Among his last acts is the removal of H. C. Roberts, Republican, Route Agent on the N. C. Railway between Baltimore and Harrisburg, and the appointment of London Ewalt, Copperhead. Four weeks more, and the country will be rid of Johnsonism.

THE New York Tribune thinks that Coffee-pot Wallace, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, should furnish each of his repeaters in Philadelphia, and elsewhere, with a velocipede in order to pass more expeditiously from poll to poll. It is in evidence that a whole gang of Democrats voted in no less than twenty wards in Philadelphia last October, and were busy on the tramp from the time the polls opened until they closed. If Wallace's crew could vote twenty times a day without help in the way of locomotion, they could do double or treble duty by swinging round the circle with velocipede aid.

"AN INFIDEL SENATOR.—Carl Schurz, the new Radical Senator from Missouri, is an open and outspoken infidel. He declares God is only an imaginary gentleman who dwells beyond the clouds. The Bible is a book only fit to amuse children. The Sabbath is a relic of barbarism. Such is the man whom "the party of great moral ideas" chose to represent it in the United States Senate."

The above is going the rounds of the Copperhead papers. It is an old story, started years ago, and resurrected since Schurz's election to the Senate. The intelligent reader need scarcely be told that there is not a word of truth in it. Carl Schurz is one of the most accomplished orators in the West, a good soldier, and a radical Republican. That is what's the matter.

GEN. GRANT is as reticent as ever to his Cabinet, and the newspaper correspondents have trouble to cipher it out. A Washington despatch says that "there is very good authority for the statement that in a conversation of General GRANT's the other evening, at his residence, he remarked that he had made up his mind upon his Cabinet, but that as yet the parties whom he should invite to accept positions had been given no intimation of his intentions. MRS. GRANT remarked, 'That is more than you ever told me.' He answered, 'Yes, more than I have ever told any one yet.' A number of feelers were then thrown out, but all failed to elicit any more hints or expressions upon that subject."

A BILL has been introduced into the State Senate, by Mr. Stinson of Montgomery county, changing the time for holding the annual township elections in the State to the day of the general election in October. The proposition has met with a favorable response from the Press generally. The proposed change would save the expense of holding spring elections, and at the same time secure a fuller expression of the people in the choice of township officers, the vote at the October elections being larger than in the spring. The plan of holding township and municipal elections separately originated in the idea that the introduction of partizan politics in the selection of these local officers would thereby be avoided. But the fact is that the contests for township and municipal offices are conducted on a political basis, and a change of time to the October election would not change the character of the election, only securing a larger vote and fuller expression of the popular will.

EX-GOVERNOR BOREMAN, Republican, will succeed Mr. VAN WINKLE as U. S. Senator from West Virginia. Van Winkle was one of the seven Republican Senators who voted against the impeachment of Andrew Johnson. Two of them—Henderson and Van Winkle—have already been disposed of, and the other five will share a similar fate when, by expiration of their Senatorial terms, the people get a chance to deal with them. In Maine, Mr. Morrill, although a sound Republican, paid the penalty of personal intimacy with Fessenden, another of the seven, and gives way to Hannibal Hamlin. By-the-way, there is a peculiar significance in Mr. Hamlin's return to the Senate. Four years ago the Republican National Convention set Hamlin aside and substituted Andrew Johnson as the nominee for Vice President. The former went out of office as the latter came in. On the 4th of March next, Hamlin comes into office endorsed as a tried and true statesman, while Johnson goes out, rejected as a faithless, treacherous demagogue.

ASTOUNDING ELECTION FRAUDS!

How Democrats Make Votes!

We have frequently adverted to the daring and infamous frauds perpetrated by the Democracy at the last October and November elections. The investigations now going on before the Congressional Committee charged with an examination of the New York frauds and in the Philadelphia courts, is developing the gigantic character of this conspiracy to control the ballot-box, of which we will hereafter have something to say. We have a few developments in the testimony before the Legislative Committee, in the examination of the Philadelphia contested seats, which give a foretaste of what is to come when the whole conspiracy is unveiled. We give a few choice extracts from this sworn testimony:

Michael Slaven, being sworn, testified as follows:

"I reside in Christian street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, Philadelphia; on the 15th of October I had no particular home; I know of persons voting in the Eleventh Legislative district who were not residents therein; I know of them having voted in the Sixteenth ward; I, Mr. Lamb, Mr. Elliott, Mr. Rowan, Mr. Redding, three New Yorkers, and two Baltimoreans, went that day up there; eight of us started from Third and Christian, and met two others at Third and Queen streets; took the Third street car and went to Poplar; got out and went down Poplar to Front; went to the Bull's Head hotel, Front, above Poplar, and got from a man there, name, residence and occupation, and voted; got the ticket from this man; from there we went to Front and Otter streets; got the name and residence, and voted there; then we went to New Market and Laurel streets; from there to Second and Germantown road; from there to Second and Beaver streets; from there to Fourth and George; from there to Fifth, below George; from thence to Fifth and Poplar; from there to Franklin and Girard avenue; from there to Tenth and Girard avenue; we got a $5 bill there from a man who gave us the tickets, and five of us went down to the Girard avenue market and got our dinners; the other five went down town; the whole ten have voted in the places I have mentioned; the five I was with went to Front above Poplar, and went over the same tract that the ten had gone before; I was sent to Front above Poplar; don't know the name of the man who sent me; I had a mark to know the man from whom I was to get the ticket; he had a piece of store string tied to his button-hole; each of us received a slip of paper with name, residence and occupation, we did not go in a body from one poll to another; cannot recollect the names we voted in; as soon as we voted we gave the slips of paper to the man who gave them to us; do not know the name of the parties who furnished the tickets; we voted the Democratic ticket; did not examine any of them; the man we took them from had the Democratic badge on."

On cross-examination, this model Democratic citizen testified;

"I was not challenged nor put upon my oath, nor any of the others that I saw; did not see all the votes taken on I voted twenty times myself that day; we started at eight o'clock in the morning, and stopped at half-past five."

Christopher Lamb, another of this patriotic and enthusiastic gang, testified as follows:

"I was one of the party spoken of by Mr. Slaven; Slaven, Elliott, Rowan, and Redding, three New Yorkers, two Baltimoreans and myself composed the party; I then lived in Shippen street, between Second and Third; I voted twenty times that day, at the same polls that Slaven voted; I cannot recollect the names I voted in; I voted the Democratic ticket, at least I got it from a man with that badge on; did not examine them; do not remember the names of the New Yorkers or Baltimoreans; have heard their names, but forget now; my vote was not challenged at any of the divisions where we voted."

Still another of the same gang, Henry Elliott by name, made the following confession:

"I heard the testimony of Slaven; was with him on the day of the October election; I then lived at No. 535 Cherry street; I voted twenty times, the same as Slaven, and at the same places; voted the Democratic ticket, I judge; did not examine any of them, because I didn't think it requisite."

On cross-examination Elliott said:

"We changed hats and coats sometimes, in going from poll to poll; never lived in the Sixteenth ward."

John Rowan, one of the party, who left at Tenth and Girard avenue, corroborated the above witnesses, but claimed the virtue of having voted only ten times.

A pretty good day's work that for one gang of "repeaters." Five of them voted twenty times each, and the other five ten times each, in the course of the day—making 150 good Democratic votes cast by 10 men. Recollect, reader, that this is not "Radical" testimony, but the sworn statements of the employees selected and paid by the Democratic managers to carry out their atrocious villainy. Is it any wonder that the Democratic leaders object to a Registry Law, which might have a tendency in future to break up these nice arrangements for securing Democratic majorities?

But the frauds in Philadelphia were comparatively trifling compared to the gigantic Copperhead operations in New York city last November. The developments are truly appalling. According to the New York Sun, thirty thousand fraudulent votes were cast in that city alone. Several witnesses testified that they had voted as often as thirty times each! The manufacturer of the bogus naturalization papers testified that his press was running for four months previous to the election, and that he had printed over one hundred thousand of them. The worst feature of the business is, that there is every reason to believe this wholesale rascality was concocted by the prominent party leaders, men of standing and influence in the community.

A CONVENTION of Editors was held in Harrisburg on Tuesday, some 61 papers being represented, the object being to form an association to promote the interests of the craft, elevate the character of the Press, and secure uniformity of action on matters affecting common interests. H. T. DARLINGTON, of the Buck County Intelligencer, was chosen President, with the usual officers and an Executive Committee of which GEORGE BERGNER, of the Harrisburg Telegraph, is Chairman.—A resolution was adopted, urging the Legislature to so amend the libel laws as to allow the admission of the truth in evidence. A proposition to have the State laws published in all papers elected a warm debate, and was finally lost by a close vote. The convention adjourned to meet in January, 1870, in Harrisburg.

ON Monday last Mr. ORTH, of Indiana, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, introduced a resolution on the basis of the old Texas resolution, declaring that the United States will be ready to receive San Domingo as a territory whenever her people demand it. Mr. Orth immediately demanded the previous question, but after a sharp struggle the resolution was laid on the table by a vote of 110 yeas to 62 nays.—The resolution substantially involved Gen. Bank's scheme of a Protectorate over Hayti and San Domingo, with ultimate annexation to the United States. The vote on laying the resolution on the table was not a partizan vote. Democrats and Republicans divided.

SENATOR HENDERSON is said to have gone to Cuba on a secret mission for President JOHNSON.

THE NEW CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

The House of Representatives on Saturday, after voting down all the proposed substitutes, passed the new Constitutional Amendment precisely as it was reported from the Reconstruction Committee. It reads:

Be it resolved, &c. (two-thirds of both Houses concurring), that the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States; which, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, shall be held as part of the said Constitution, namely:

ARTICLE—

Section 1. The right of any citizen of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any State, by reason of race, color, or previous condition of slavery of any citizen or class of citizens of the United States.

Section 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

The vote on this proposed Amendment, stood—Yeas 150, all Republicans; Nays 42, all Democrats but Messrs. Baker of Ill., Bingham of Ohio, Hawkins of Tenn., and Polsley of West Va.

The proposition now goes to the Senate, where it has already been extensively debated, and where earnest efforts will be made to press it to an early vote, and it will undoubtedly pass by the requisite vote. It will then be submitted to the several States for approval. We have no question that sooner or later it will be adopted by a sufficient number of States to make it a part of the organic law. That end once obtained, the logical results of the Rebellion and the War for its suppression will have been secured, and the Negro question be thus removed from the arena of National politics, where it has been a disturbing element for half a century.

THE UNION PACIFIC—ITS EXTENT AND TRAFFIC.

The Union Pacific Railroad is finished for more than one thousand miles beyond Omaha. The valley of Great Salt Lake has been reached, and but two hundred and fifty miles of the entire line from the Missouri to the Pacific remain unbuilt. In comparison with what has been accomplished, this gap is but a small matter, which the army of skilled laborers employed upon the work will speedily fill up with a continuous track; and with the early days of the coming summer announcements will be made of "through trains from New York to San Francisco."

What has been the business success of the road thus built with a rapidity unparalleled, and extending, as this does, through territories unsettled before the pioneership of the locomotive? The official figures tell the story. The earnings for the year 1868, upon an average distance in operation of less than 700 miles, were more than five million dollars, those of the second half of the year exceeding the first six months by $930,672,-81. This remarkable traffic will be best appreciated by those most conversant with railroad progress and profits during the earlier years of their operation.

What amount of future business can be predicted for the Union Pacific? This question cannot be easily answered, simply because the actual traffic will almost inevitably be greater than the most sanguine of its friends dare now assert. Consider the vast, almost illimitable, capacities of the country traversed by the road, for population, manufactures and mercantile business. The line from Omaha to San Francisco is eighteen hundred miles long. Every mile of this distance has resources as yet undeveloped, which will afford room and employment for populous communities. The lands of Nebraska are unsurpassed by any in the country for luxuriant crops; the prairies of the western part of that State, and the plains of Wyoming afford pasturage for countless herds; the Black Hills are rich in coal and iron, which will give employment to many thousands of mechanics; the mining regions of Nevada, Idaho, Montana and Oregon, will find their quickest and most profitable route for transportation over the Union Pacific; and added to all the local travel and freight which will thus be assured to this great line, will be the trans-continental traffic to and from the Pacific coast. The international trade of half the world will load the through trains of the Union Pacific.

The amount of passenger business alone will be enormous. It was predicted, in 1867, by one who carefully considered this subject, that fifty thousand persons per annum made the steamship journey to and from California. In 1868 facts more than justified this prediction, for about seventy thousand were carried by the two main lines running from New York. The overland travel (both ways) should bring the total to about one hundred thousand. It is certainly within bounds to assume that with the cheaper and quicker transit afforded by the railroad, the amount of travel will be doubled, and that but a small portion will take any other route than that over the Union Pacific. Two hundred thousand through passengers, at an average cost of $100, would give an income of $20,000,000, of which about three-fifths, or say $12,000,-000, would properly belong to the Union Pacific Company, exclusive of the vast local passenger traffic which will at least double every year for a generation to come.

In whatever light we view it, the Union Pacific Railroad cannot fail to be a magnificent success. It is not surprising that the First Mortgage Bonds of this Company are so favorably considered by financiers and business men generally, as possessing very unusual advantages of security and profit. These Bonds are for $1,000 each, paying 6 per cent. gold interest, and principal payable in thirty years in gold. Some interesting facts concerning the road and its bonds may be found in another column.

WHAT IT COSTS TO BE A SHERIFF IN GEORGIA.—On the 17th inst., a desperado from Tennessee, calling himself Stillboy, but whose real name is Joel Ritchie, came to Jasper, Pickens county, pursued by two or three men from Murray county, who represented to the Sheriff of Pickens that Ritchie had stolen some horses in Murray, and was making his escape, and desired the Sheriff of Pickens to aid in the pursuit. He prepared himself, and taking along with him Mr. Warren Brown as a deputy, proceeded in the direction Stillboy, alias Ritchie, had gone, until they had gone about six miles from Jasper. On the road from Jasper to Dawsonville, they came upon him at the house of a Mr. Padget, and rushed in on him and arrested him; but not supposing he had any concealed weapons about his person, did not search him, when, contrary to all expectations, he drew a pistol and deliberately shot the Sheriff through the body and killed him, he only surviving a few hours. The Deputy Sheriff then attacked Ritchie, and was himself dangerously, if not mortally, wounded in the arm. Ritchie then went out and took the best horse they had, mounted him, and went on in the direction of Elijay, in Gilmer county, making his way, it is supposed, to East Tennessee.—Atlanta Intelligencer, Jan. 29.

A YOUNG man at Connersville, in Giles county, Tennessee, on Thursday evening, while standing on the floor in the act of being married, was shot down by the brother of his bride. He fell in the arms of the devoted girl, who, assisted by friends, conveyed him to a bed, when, at her request, the marriage ceremony was finished, she exclaiming that she had rather mourn a dead husband that a dead lover. In a few minutes the newly-made husband expired. The murderer escaped.

THE newspaper correspondents, who long ago discovered every other good quality in General Grant, are now finding out that he is fond of a joke. Here is one of their stories;

"Good evening, General Grant," said a pleasant office-seeker the other night to the President elect. "I have not been to see you, General, since election."

"Plenty have," said Grant; "I've not been lonesome."

THE Pottsville Miners' Journal of Saturday says: "In our last we gave the particulars of the unfortunate occurence to Mr. Harrison Triebley—the swallowing of a dental plate in his sleep. He lingered until Sunday morning last, when after profuse hemorrhage he died. On Monday a post mortem examination of the body was made, but the plate was not found. Mr. Triebley was 35 years old at the time of his death, and leaves a wife and one child."

A MAN OF ACRES.—John Herwood is the reputed owner of one-half of Morgan county, Ill., and of sixty thousand acres in Nebraska. His estate is valued at six millions of dollars. He went from Massachusetts to the West in 1835, and by keeping out of "corner lots" in embryo cities during the speculating mania of 1836-7, and confining himself to farming lands purchased at $125 per acre, he has become one of the greatest (if not the greatest) land owners in the United States.

THE year 1869 is destined to be the most important in the annals of American Methodism. During the year the people will be called to decide whether or no they will accept the measures proposed to them by the General Conference for the admission of lay representatives to that assembly and the annual conferences. It is also an important fact, a new constituency has been created by the late General Conference; all members of the Church over twenty-one years of age, whether men or women, will be eligible to vote upon this question.

ONE prominent citizen of Lansing, Iowa was murdered by another on Monday last. The murdered man was named Frederick May, and the murderer Charles May—his cousin. The two had been engaged in a dispute about a load of wheat offered for sale by a farmer. Bitter words and threats passed between them, when Charles May withdrew to a store near by, and, returning with a revolver, shot and instantly killed the other while he was on the wagon examining the wheat. The murderer was immediately arrested and lodged in jail.

THE REBEL GENERAL EARLY.—This gentleman does not accept very cordially the President's act of grace. In a letter to a friend he says, "that he looks upon the Christmas proclamation of President Johnson as a final acknowledgment of the United States Government, in all its departments, of its inability to hold any of us responsible under the Constitution and the laws as they were for our resistance to it, usurpations." The General must be on the rampage. We would refer his case to General P. H. Sheridan.

THE COUNTIES.

CUMBERLAND.—Rev. T. C. Pitchard was installed Pastor of the Lutheran church in Mechanicsburg, on Sunday the 23d ult., Rev. Dr. Brown, of Gettysburg conducting the services.—The barn of Mr. Means, a few miles from Shippensburg, was destroyed by fire on Sunday night last together with all the hay, grain, stock and implements in it.—The White Sulphur Springs, 4 miles north east of Carlisle, were destroyed by fire on Tuesday.

CARROLL.—R. T. Shipley, of Westminster, has sold his farm, situated in Freedom District, to James H. Steele of Liberty District, for $10,000.

FRANKLIN.—The Chambersburg Manufactory and Building Association have sold the Foundry and Machine Shop, located on West Market Street, opposite Miller;s Hotel, to John R. Turner, of Carlisle, price $15,000.—Miss Elizabeth J. Clark, of Chambersburg, recently deceased, leaves $500 to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, and the balance of her estate (worth about $8000) to the Presbyterian Church of Chambersburg.—The Directors of the Poor have appointed Samuel Brandt, Steward; Wm. H. Boyle, Physician; John R. Orr, Attorney and Clerk; and Alexander Martin, Treasurer.—John B. Gough will lecture in Chambersburg on Thursday evening, March 18.

FULTON.—On Saturday evening last the residence of Mr. J. Porter, in McConnellsburg, was entirely consumed. The fire originated from a defective flue. Loss about $3,000. No insurance.

YORK.—Charles Cremer, a well known green grocer in York, died suddenly at Mt. Vernon Hall on Friday night last, of heart disease. He was attending a dance at that place and had just concluded a gallop, when he suddenly fell over, and life was extinct in a short time.—A new county is talked of to be made out of York and Lancaster counties, to include Columbia, Wrightsville, Marietta, Maytown, Bainbridge, Washington, Mountville and other small towns—Columbia to be the county seat.—Alexander Koser has purchased the old German Reformed Parsonage, in Hanover, for the sum of $3,400 cash. The congregation will erect in the Spring a parsonage on Broadway Avenue, immediately adjoining the Church.

THREE men were killed and five severely wounded by an explosion of nitro-glycerine in a quarry at South Petersburg, Rensselaer county, N. Y., on Saturday.

Testimonials can be seen at his office. The Medical faculty are invited to accompany their patients, as he has no secrets in his practice. Artificial eyes inserted without pain. No charge for examination.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

An Eastern medical periodical gives an interesting account of the complete cure of Mrs. Amos Stauffer, of Manor, Lancaster county, Pa., of hereditary Consumption. Her parents and several brothers and sisters died of this terrible disease. Mrs. Stauffer herself relgned to the same fate, the pains at 140; her breathing painfully difficult; expectoration of excessive ("dirthus" worse than chronic, and her confidence in human skill entirely gone. One of the old and skillful physicians she was pronounced incurable. At this stage of the disease, Dr. S. B. Hartman, of Millersville, Lancaster county, Pa., a physician of fourteen years standing, prescribed MENDLER'S HERB BITTERS. The patient was soon experienced a pleasing invigorating sensation throughout her system, and encouraged by her friends to continue under Dr. Hartman's treatment, she did so, gradually improving under increased doses according to her strength, until she entirely recovered. Mrs. Stauffer is still living, in the full enjoyment of perfect health. C. HUBER, Esq., Prothonotary of the Lancaster County (Pa.,) National Bank, subscribes the particulars of this most wonderful case.

"TRUE MERIT WILL ALWAYS HAVE ITS REWARD."

It is certain that no remedy has ever been more satisfactorily demonstrated in our midst than the above, as may be seen daily in the immense demand for that justly celebrated remedy, MENDLER'S HERB BITTERS. It is the one thing needful for those whose circumstances are unfavorable for good health, because a perfect protection against all morbid influences proceeding of disease. The present is the most fitting season for restoring the organs of our bodies and securing our health during the "April showers" of spring, which many are negligent of, and are many persons who are alive in summer, this winter, consequently such change in the season cause disease to appear. Let every one, therefore, at once resolve upon them, followed by all by trials of life, health and happiness. MENDLER'S HERB BITTERS never fail to give satisfaction. The characteristics of good health will spring up within and continue with you.

MRS. R. M. HYSTER, Principal

Jan. 27, 1869.—3t

The Star and Banner.

Gettysburg, Friday, Feb. 5, 1869.

☞ Miss Crouch at Agricultural Hall, Tuesday night.

BURNED.—We learn that the store of Mr. Charles H. Buhrman, above Fountaindale, was entirely destroyed by fire on Tuesday night, with most of the contents.

☞ We learn that there are several new buildings in progress in Bendersville, in anticipation of the railroad coming to that place. Property too, has taken a rise from the same cause.

ACCEPTED.—We learn that the Rev. S. VAN CLEVE has accepted the call from the Hunterstown and Marsh Creek Presbyterian churches in this county, and expects to commence his ministerial duties about the 1st of April.

☞ In the State Senate last week, Mr. Duncan presented the remonstrance of one hundred and fifty-seven citizens of Wayne ssboro' and vicinity, in the county of Franklin, remonstrating against the passage of an act prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in said borough.

RAILROAD MEETING.—We are requested to state that a railroad meeting will be held at the Hall in Bendersville on Saturday February 6, at one o'clock which will be of interest to all. J. S. GITT, (Civil Engineer,) who has made a practical survey of the route, will be present to address the meeting.

COLUMBIA BRIDGE.—We have already noticed the opening of this Bridge for general travel. In two weeks it will be ready for Railroad trains. The Philadelphia North American says that regular excursion trains will be seen from Philadelphia to Gettysburg this summer over this route.

LAMP EXPLOSION.—On Monday night of last week, a coal oil lamp, which had just been lighted, exploded at the residence of Mr. Henry Little, near McSherrystown, scattering the burning oil over the room and setting it on fire. The flames were extinguished with considerable difficulty. Fortunately none of the inmates received any injury whatever.

FASTNACHT.—Tuesday next, the 9th inst., will be the day for "fastnacht" cakes. It is known in the Calender, as Shrove Tuesday and immediately precedes Ash Wednesday, the beginning of the forty days of Lent observed in the Catholic and, we believe, some other churches. Easter, this year, comes on the twenty-eight and twenty-ninth of March. Lent ends with Easter Sunday.

SOLDIERS' DISCHARGES.—To guard against the loss of Soldiers' Discharges, the Legislature has made provision for having them entered of record by the Recorder of the county. The fee for recording is only 75 cents. As these Discharges may hereafter be of service to the soldiers, in the contingencies of future legislation, it would be well promptly to avail themselves of the provisions of the law.

☞ Fifty cents to hear Miss Crouch's lecture on "Wisdom and Folly."

MINISTERIAL.—Rev. H. C. GROSSMAN, late of New Chester, Adams county, Pa., has accepted a call as Associate-Pastor with Rev. Dr. BUTLER, in charge of the Memorial Chapel, Washington, D. C.

Rev. IRVING MAGEE, of Chambersburg, has accepted the call from the English Lutheran Church, at Dayton, O., and expects to enter upon his new field of labor immediately.

JUDGMENT NOTE STAMPS.—Mr. Welsh, Assessor of Internal Revenue, at York, recently wrote to Commissioner Rollins to know what amount of stamps is required on Judgment Notes. The Commissioner replies, under date of Jan. 16, that no stamp duty is required on any warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note. Judgment Notes, therefore, should be stamped at the usual rate of promissory notes, being 5 cents for every $100 or fractional part thereof.

UNITED BRETHREN.—The Pennsylvania Conference of the United Brethren in Christ met in Chambersburg last week. Bishop Glossbrenner presiding. It will meet in Newville next year. Among the appointments for the ensuing year, we notice the following:

York District—W. R. Raber, P. E.
Littlestown Circuit—J. H. Young.
York Springs Circuit—J. Neidig.
Bendersville Mission—S. Bigham.

PATENT GRANTED.—We notice that Mr. GEORGE E. BRINGMAN, now residing in Baltimore, Md., has obtained a Patent for an Improvement in Grain Separators, for separating and cleaning grain, &c. The Improvement is pronounced by practical machinists who have examined it a very important one, which ought to command a ready sale. It is Mr. B's purpose to dispose of State and County Rights as rapidly as possible. We are gratified to notice the matter and hope the Patentee, who is a clever fellow, may make a good thing out of it. Mr. B's address is 177 German street, Baltimore Md.

RAILROAD SURVEY.—Jos. S. GITT, as we learn, last week completed the survey of the Bendersville Branch Railroad, which is to connect with the South Mountain Railroad, running from Carlisle to Pine Grove. The distance will be about seven and a half miles. Mr. GITT is now at work making the map, profile, and calculations, and will have his report ready by next Saturday, to lay it before the meeting in Bendersville. The meeting to receive his report will take place at one o'clock in the afternoon, when further action in regard to the construction of the road will take place. Next week we hope to give a more satisfactory statement of the cost, &c., of this road.

EXPLANATION.—That there may be no misunderstanding it is proper to state that the register of Sales of Personal Property, to be found in another column, contains ONLY the sales regularly advertised in our paper, and is given only for convenient reference. Of course, sales not advertised in the paper do not appear in the register. We think that persons having personal or real estate to sell, make a great mistake in not liberally advertising in newspaper as well as by bills—the former having largely the advantage over bills, as such notice in the newspaper is brought promptly to the attention of hundreds who never get to see the bills. But that is a matter which every one must judge of for himself.

☞ You will regret if you fail to hear Miss Crouch.

SALES.—George Stallsmith has sold his two new two story houses on York street, east of Liberty, to John Cress for $3,000.

Jacob Reily has sold to Peter Beitler 12 acres and 88 perches of land in Cumberland township, for $600 cash.

Henry Culp has sold to Peter Beitler and Levi Weaver three unimproved town lots on East Middle street, for $633.

Samuel Shultz, of Oxford township, has sold 18 acres to Mr. Glasse, of Conowago township, for $2,300.

The Hotel, lots, &c., of John Green, in Littlestown, were recently sold at public sale, to George L. Devilbiss, of Frederick county, Md., at $4,650.

Wm. Slifer has sold his property, in Union township, to Jacob Maring—13 acres, with improvements, at $4,800.

Mr. Slifer has purchased Rufus Dätzler's new house, in Littlestown, at $2,715 cash.

Joseph P. McDivit, Esq., has sold five acres of land, in Liberty township, to Martin C. Overholtzer at $225 per acre.

Elias Gardner, of Baltimore county, Md., has sold his farm, in Butler township, this county, to Samuel H. Harris—170 acres, at $6,500

OF THE

UNION PACIFIC

RAILROAD

ARE NOW COMPLETED.

As 500 miles of the western portion of the line, beginning at Sacramento, are also done, but

267 MILES REMAIN

To be Finished, to Open the Grand Through Line. to the Pacific. This Opening will certainly take place early this season.

Besides a donation from the Government of 12,800 acres of land per mile, the Company is entitled to a subsidy in U. S. Bonds on its line as completed and accepted, of less than average value at par, per mile, according to the difficulties encountered, for which the Government takes a second lien as security. Whether subsidies are given to any other companies or not, the Government will comply with all its contracts with the Union Pacific Railroad Company. Nearly the whole amount of bonds to which the Company will be entitled have already been delivered.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

AT PAR.

By its charter, the Company is permitted to issue its own FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS to the same amount as the Government Bonds, and no more. These Bonds are a First Mortgage upon the centre road and all its appurtenants.

THEY HAVE THIRTY YEARS TO RUN, AT SIX PER CENT., and both

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST

ARE

PAYABLE IN GOLD.

Such securities are generally valuable in proportion to the length of time they have to run. The longest six per cent. gold interest bonds of the U. S. (the '61's) will be due in 12 years, and they are worth 112. If they had 30 years to run, they would stand at not less than 125. A perfectly safe First Mortgage Bond like the Union Pacific should approach this rate. The demand for European investment is already considerable, and on the completion of the work will doubtless carry the price to a large premium.

SECURITY OF THE BONDS.

It needs no argument to show that a First Mortgage of $16,000 per mile upon what for a long time must be the only railroad connecting the Atlantic and Pacific States is perfect security. The entire amount of the mortgage will be about $30,000,000, and the interest $1,800,000 per annum in gold. The present current income of the Company is more than $2,000,000 per annum, while the gross earnings for the year 1868, FROM WAY BUSINESS ONLY, ON AN AVERAGE OF LESS THAN 700 MILES OF ROAD IN OPERATION, WERE MORE THAN

FIVE MILLION DOLLARS,

The details of which are as follows:

From Passengers	$1,024,004.97
" Freight	2,040,333.10
" Express	91,423.00
" Mails	136,285.49
" Miscellaneous	91,626.27
" Government troops	104,171.09
" " freight	449,449.35
Construction of new lines	1,178.09
" " material	966,430.23
Total	$5,006,551.61

This large amount is only an indication of the immense traffic that must go over the through line in a few months, when the great tide of Pacific coast travel and trade will begin. It is estimated that this business must make the earnings of the road from FIFTEEN TO TWENTY MILLIONS A YEAR.

As the supply of these Bonds will soon cease, parties who desire to invest in them will find it for their interest to do so at once. The price for the present is par and accrued interest from Jan. 1, in currency.

Subscriptions will be received in GETTYSBURG by the DIFFERENT BREEDS OF CATTLE.

Cattle have from the earliest ages been of the greatest service to the human family.—They differ much in size and shape in different countries. The highland cattle raised in Scotland or the neighboring islands, where they are forced to live among rocky pastures, and on scanty food, are small and hardy, while on the rich pampas of South America they acquire a greater size.

Within the present century the attention of stock raisers has been given to improving cattle in all desirale qualities. The great difference in some points has led to dividing cattle into different families or breeds. It is the object of the present essay to point out some of the characteristics of the leading breeds; although in the limited space assigned, this must be done in a very brief manner. The breed to which the most attention is at present directed is of the family of Short-Horns known as Durhams. These are generally of a roan or spotted red and white color, although sometimes of a pure white or a deep red. They are well shaped and contain great weight of carcass in the smallest dimensions. Durham cattle make superior oxen and are the most profitable for beef, but in milking qualities they are believed by some to be inferior to some other breeds, but this is not admitted by all. A cross of the native with the Durham will produce good results. The English have generally excelled in these animals, but of late American cattle have been purchased by English breeders, to improve their herds. There are at present quite a number of breeders of Durhams in this country.

Alderneys. This stock of cattle is a variety of purely dairy stock and originated in the channel island. They are not large. They yield but little milk, but that is extremely rich.

Some extra fine cows make fifteen to twenty pounds of butter per week. Quite a number of importations have been made and they are pretty well scattered over the eastern and middle States where they are held in high estimation for their valuable dairy qualities. In England they are kept by fanciers more for ornament than use.—The breed is of French origin.

Ayrshires. This breed is supposed by some to be a cross of the Durham and Alderney; it takes its name from the county of Ayr in Scotland. It is extensively raised in Scotland and probably ranks next to the Durham in numbers in the United States. They are favorites with some first class dairymen from the quantity and quality of milk and the readiness with which they fatten after having served their purpose in the dairy. They are short horns of mingled white and red color.

Herefords. These cattle are not first rate milkers, but are more profitable for beef than some others. They are not generally bred in this country, other stocks doing as well. They have long horns, and are of a red color, varying from dark to pale or nearly yellow, and mostly marked with white bellies.

Galloways. A hornless breed and like the Herefords better for butchering than dairy purposes. They have straight backs, and sides round like a barrel, capable of sustaining great weight of meat. The color is generally black, occasionally spotted with white or dark brindled.

Devons. This breed is not of large size, but is well proportioned. They yield a medium quantity of milk of superior quality and by some are esteemed the best breed for the dairy. They fatten well, having the desired streaks of fat and lean, and a fine flavored beef is obtained from the carcass. This breed has been greatly improved within the last few years, and the cattle are noted for their docility either as dairy cattle or oxen. Having noticed the principal breeds I will enlarge further hereafter.

SORE OR TENDER MOUTHED HORSES.—Can you give me any remedy for a horse that has a very tender mouth and sides of his mouth often sore, if so you will much oblige a SUBSCRIBER.

Boston, Mass.

Some horses will always be exceedingly tender in the mouth, while others are sometimes almost unmanageable. The corroding of the iron bridle bit in the mouth of a thin-skinned high-strung animal, will sometimes produce canker in the sides of the mouth just as mechanics often get sore mouths by holding cut nails in their lips while at work. Sometimes the headstall is buckled up so short that the iron bit is drawn up with much force against the sides of the mouth. If the skin be tender, the animal will be liable to have a sore mouth; and the wound will be so very tender that scarcely the pressure of the weight of the reins can be endured. Sometimes the check-rein is drawn up unmercifully tight. All such things cause sore mouth.

The most satisfactory remedy for a sore mouth is a preventive. If the head stall is too short, lengthen it, so that the bit may ride lower down toward the lips. If the sore is produced by drawing up the check rein too tightly, give it greater length. If the nature of the iron is such that rust from the bit poisons the tender mouth, let the bit be covered with a piece of firm leather, sewed on with the seam on the lower side of the bit, so that the smooth leather may come in contact with the mouth. Let a heavy piece of calfskin be employed to cover the bit rather than thin, flappy leather. If the iron about the mouth be galvanized thoroughly, that will prevent all corrosion of the iron and consequent injury to the mouth.—American Stock Journal.

CHEAP WAY OF COOKING FOOD FOR CATTLE.—Nobody can deny that there is much profit in cooking food for domestic animals; but there are comparatively few farmers who care to run the risk of a furnace set up in an ordinary barn where their hay and grain are stored. Besides this, the cost of fuel for cooking in the ordinary manner is quite often a very important item. A plan has long been practiced in Europe for cooking food for households by means of hot water, without any external application of heat to the vessel, which could be employed to advantage, on a larger scale, for preparing food for cattle. An apparatus on this principle could be made very cheaply, as follows; Take a sheet-metal vessel of a size sufficient to hold all that is needed for once feeding the desired number of cattle, and fit it within a wooden tub, which latter should be of such dimensions that a space will be left between it and the inner vessel. This being done, fill the space just mentioned with sawdust, or some other good non-conductor of heat, and provide the whole with a thick wooden lid to keep in the heat when the apparatus is in use. By filling the latter in the morning with the materials to be cooked, together with two or three pailfuls of boiling-hot water, the mass will be thoroughly steamed for use by the feeding-time at night; another batch may be had ready for morning. The European devices are made small, to be carried in the hand like a pail; and being filled with the boiling water, a piece of beef, some potatoes, and other vegetables, when the workman leaves home in the morning, by the time dinner-hour arrives he has only to take off the cover to find his dinner smoking hot.—Hearth and Home.

Dr. Montgomery, of the Harrodsburg (Kentucky) Presbyterian Church, had a little boy as pussy as he was intelligent. His mother, like all mothers, was proud enough of her little prodigy in short dresses, and liked to show off his acquirements before visitors. On one occasion he was up for inspection before some lady callers, and his mother put the usual catechism question: "Who made you?" Hereupon little Jimmy folded his hands as at prayer, and raised his eyes as birds do when "saying grace" after drinking, and then the answer came, "Dod makes and preserves us," and instantly added, "Dood Dod, to make p'eserves for us, ain't he, mamma?" Children understand sweetmeats sooner than they do the catechism.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so rapidly and deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the lungs and throat, that the most obstinate of them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear. Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or to more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is nowise injurious to any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of its radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or traveling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

HAIR VIGOR

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for useful uses by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but no harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil the cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

THE GREAT

Invigorator and Restorer

OF THE

Vitality of the Stomach.

Prepared from Pure Vegetable Materials.

Pure Tonics and the most Pleasant Aromatics.

This invaluable Remedy for Dyspepsia and General Debility of the system is offered to the public, after a fair trial of its merits, with entire confidence that it will command their approval. It has been submitted, with the materials which it opses it, to practising Physicians—among others to Dr. M. D. G. PFOUTZ, of our oldest and most eminent Physicians, residing at New Oxford, who, after examination, pronounced it a Remedy which would not fail to show its salutary effects, when properly administered, in cases of Dyspepsia, springing from old age and debilitating effects of serious inward diseases—weakening, and at last destroying the nervous power of the stomach itself—and therefore entitling it to be emphatically called "The Great Invigorator."

Dr. W. J. MCCLURE, another prominent Physician of New Oxford, thus gives his opinion:

NEW OXFORD, Dec. 30, 1868.

MR. JOHN BURRY.

Dear Sir:—At your request I have examined "The Great Invigorator," prepared by you, and the formula from which it is prepared. It is composed of some of the most powerful vegetable tonic and most pleasant aromatics known to our profession, and I have no hesitancy in recommending it in Chronic cases of Dyspepsia, and in all cases of Indigestion resulting from debility of the Stomach. Believing that, if properly used, it will be of inestimable benefit to the suffering of our race, I subscribe myself,

Yours, very respectfully,
